It looks to me like they finally got this matter out of the Lewis County court system and their recharged battery is called "The Law". If we didn't have local lawmakers passing laws that can't hold up in court the "progressive" as you refer to them, wouldn't have to sue, sue, sue. Lewis County is misusing their power to serve special interest groups such as the atv clubs. A lot more money is spent buying tourism in Lewis County than they will ever get in return. And that, my friend Chief, is because not one of them knows what they are doing. And as for the SNIRT run that too shall pass.
